

Health & Beauty Blog

Denver, Colorado is Home to a Beauty Spa Where Medical Technology and Personal Care are Combined

Posted on June 13th, 2010 in beauty spa

Denver, CO – Skin care is a multi-million dollar industry which implores consumers to avail themselves of a vast array of over the counter products, medical procedures and spa treatments. The many ways to achieve perfect skin can create confusion to those unfamiliar with the inner workings of medical science and the truth behind what works and what is just a cosmetic cover up.

The skin is the largest organ of the body and plays many different roles as protector and purveyor of your appearance. As protector the skin provides a barrier from infectious invaders as well as keeping all your insides – inside. But as the ultimate body accessory your skin has the ability to attract members of the opposite sex unlike any other adornment. Beautiful skin has been sought by human beings since the dawn of time when ancient peoples would cover their bodies in mud, soak it in mineral hot springs and apply fragrant oils to achieve soft and supple skin.

Modern technology has made great strides towards the goal of beautiful skin but with each type of scientific method being used the importance of proficient operators to handle these highly sophisticated machines and applications becomes a key element for successful treatments.

In the clear aired city of Westminster, Colorado, just north of Denver is a medspa called A Hair Never There, Inc. This skin care facility is staffed by Para-Medical Estheticians, Certified Laser Specialists and skin care professionals dedicated to providing the best in epidermal health care. Customers can take advantage of a host of services from Photo Rejuvenation, Microdermabrasion, Chemical Peels and the Trinita, a 3 step process that works to turn back the hands of time.

One of the most popular skin treatments for both men and women is laser hair removal. In Colorado laser hair removal gets expert attention from the folks at A Hair Never There, utilizing the latest in medical laser treatments and operated by certified professional. Critical to achieving optimum results is the education and training of its technician. The machine is only as good as the person wielding the instrument.

The staff of A Hair Never There said it best when it comes to skin care and spa treatment centers.

“It is of utmost importance to us that all of our specialists are trained to the highest standard to ensure a safe and effective treatment for you.”

Along with laser hair removal Denver spa specialists at A Hair Never There also offer a technique for enhancing eyelashes. Novalash extensions in Denver have become increasingly popular as they have around the country because of its ability to lengthen, darken and thicken the natural lash. More than just the latest trend for Hollywood movie stars and models, NovaLash Eyelash Extensions help people with small lashes, which can cause an illusion of having small eyes, overcome this by lengthening the lashes and create an effect of much larger and more attractive eyes.

Overall skin care is essential for not only physical health and beauty but also as part of your mental health regime as well.

For more information about quality skin care and laser hair removal click on www.denverlaserhairremoval.com for more information.

